Introduction

The New Haven Colony of the National Society of New England Women was organized on January 26, 1927. The National Society had been organized in 1895. Any woman, eighteen years of age and over, who descends from one or more ancestors born in New England prior to the signing of the Constitution of the United States in 1789, is eligible to membership in the Society provided she is acceptable to the Colony she wishes to join and to the National Society.

This material was given to the Whitney Library in 1994 by John Graef of North Haven. There are no limitations on access to the collection.

The collection consists of 15 volumes and one folder.
