VIII. Analysis:

The collection consists of 3 boxes of correspondence, largely letters written to Hattie P. Fuller by members of her family. There is a small number of letters written to her by her husband before and after their marriage and also a small number of letters from more distant relatives and friends. The largest group of letters covers the period 1899-1903 and were written to Mrs. Fuller by her daughter, Grace Pierpont Fuller, while Grace was a student at Smith College. These letters are remarkable for the picture they give of college life for women at the turn of the century. In addition there are a few letters to Elias Pierpont and Grace Pierpont, Hattie's parents, and a biography of her husband, Austin B. Fuller, written by their daughter, Grace.
