Introduction

The New Haven Women's Philatelic Society was formed by a group of twelve New Haven women in January 1932, for women who were interested in the art and study of stamp collecting. It was the second women's philatelic club to be organized in this country, Chicago being the first. The records contain correspondence, minutes, reports, financial data, and information about Society members. The organization is now defunct.

These papers were given to the New Haven Colony Historical Society on November 17, 1987.

There are no restrictions on access to this material.
